These stunning photographs were taken by the incredible Carter Joseph Shields, without whom none of this would have been possible.*

PEACE OUT SANTA

The perfect balance of hippie vibes and Christmas cheer makes this sweatshirt a sheer masterpiece. Only the brilliant Candace Grace could accomplish such an extraordinary feat. No wonder people were literally racing to the store to buy them.

HIKER BEAR

Truly one of Beyond Boundaries' most iconic pieces of merchandise, this exquisite design has taken the world by storm. Reprinted numerous times in an array of colors, people have kept the demand high for months on end.

BLACK BEAUTY

He is beauty, he is grace. Just look at that glowing blue boy face.

SNOW DADDY

This luxurious sweatshirt is the best article of merch TNT produced in John David's four years at Harding. Hands down.

TNT CLONE

This. This sweatshirt is the key to self-actualization. If you have one of these, then you're in.

THE FORMAL FRONTIER

Designed by the illustrious Ramen Doodles in Fall 2019. The function was a bust, but the sweatshirt was worth it all.

POLAR EXPRESS PULLOVER

Widely known as one of the most comfortable sweatshirts in John David's closet, this one was acquired in Fall 2017 at DGR's Polar Express semi-formal.

CHOO CHOO HEATHER BLUE

One of the only freebies John David received (perks of being a new beau). People compliment it all the time simply because it is neither navy nor maroon.

“when I was abroad...”

ITALIAN IMPULSE BUY

John David purchased this gorgeous green getup right before leaving Italy. He just wanted everyone to know he was a cool world traveler.

ISRAEL ORIGINAL

The t-shirt shop worker thought John David was German, but he is most definitely American.

OLD SCHOOL ORACLE

Acquired in Delphi, the ancient mythological home of Python, Apollo's oracle, and groovy sweatshirts.

UNIVERSITY OF ATHENS

John David is a sucker. He cannot haggle to save his life. A shop owner in Athens, Greece was able to convince him that this sweatshirt was worth €30 (roughly $36). John David felt accomplished when he convinced the guy to knock a few euros off the price. However, when he got back to the US, he realized the decal is off-centered. So now this is exclusively a workout hoodie.

SORRENTO SWAG

Most people say, "Pics or it didn't happen." John David's philosophy studying abroad was, "Sweatshirts or it didn't happen." Thus, he and Sommer Cofield just HAD to buy matching threads in Sorrento, Italy.

CLASSIC LOGO

Perhaps the most iconic article of clothing on Harding's campus, the original Ramen Doodles sweatshirt has elevated John David's humble comic strip to an unprecedented level of fame. Over 100 sold and counting.

DOUBLE DOODLE

These identical twins have caused John David more trouble than he ever imagined. After initially drawing the design in October 2020, it took months to work out the details with Jay Hall at Promos & Logos. FINALLY, John David settled on Carolina Blue and Maroon, and the sweatshirts arrived in February 2021.

NAVY BOY

One of the first sweaters John David ever bought. For years he thought he could only wear it over a collared shirt, but a certain girl came along who changed his whole perspective on sweaters forever.

CUTE AND COZY

Hours of toil through countless stores resulted in finding this blessed Old Navy sweater. Cute AND cozy. Say no more.

THE STRIPED GENTLEMAN

Another gem from Old Navy that's perfect for those porch-sittin', coffee-sippin' days.

SCOTT'S HAND-ME-DOWN

After years of neglect on the closet shelves of Scott Crawford, this timeless sweater was finally freed from bondage over Christmas Break. John David wore it when he proposed to the love of his life.

GREEN TOWEL SWEATER

Is it a shirt? A towel? Both? The world may never know. Regardless, he looks GOOD.

HARDING HOODIE

Arguably the oldest article of clothing in the catalogue, John David bought this hoodie at the Harding University Bookstore during his high school years. It kept him warm during countless football games.

HUNGER GAMES

The esteemed Mallory Mackie took John David to Sig Phi's Hunger Games function during the fall of 2019. They fought hard, and he literally acted like a maniac to keep people away from them. But, alas, they were struck down by the band alliance.
